

Ashburton Guardian. 7 September 1915 (Papers Past) [17/06/2015]

THE FALLEN AND WOUNDED.

Private Edward I. W. Lee (Canterbury battalion), who is reported to have died of wounds, on August 11, was about the youngest soldier to leave Ashburton to join the Expeditionary Force. He was 18 years of age, and was a son of Mr C. W. Lee, formerly Ashburton branch manager for Messrs Dalgety and Company. Private Lee was, previous to enlisting, engaged in the service of the Bank of New Zealand. He was born in Victoria (Australia), and was educated at Geraldine, Cheviot, and, later, at the Waitaki Boys' High School. He was held in high regard by people who knew him, and was very popular among his fellows. From the first announcement that New Zealand would send an Expeditionary Force to the war he was keen to go, but on account of being under age he did not succeed in getting away until the Fifth Reinforcements departed. Private Lee was a member of the Ashburton Old Boys' Football Club.

Lyttelton Times. 8 September 1915 (Papers Past) [22/03/2021]

PERSONAL NOTES.

THE FALLEN.

Private Edward I. W. Lee (Canterbury Battalion), who is reported to have died of wounds on August 11, was about the youngest soldier to leave Ashburton to join the Expeditionary Force. He was eighteen years of age. and was a son of Mr C. W. Lee, formerly Ashburton branch manager for Messrs Dalgety and Company. Private Lee was, previous to enlisting, engaged in the service of the Bank of New Zealand. He was born in Victoria (Australia), and was educated at Geraldine, Cheviot, and later at the Waitaki Boys' High School. He was greatly respected, and was very popular among his fellows. From the first announcement that New Zealand would send an expeditionary force to the war he was keen to go, but on account of his age he did not get away until the Fifth Reinforcements departed. Private Lee was a member of the Ashburton Old Boys Football Club.