

Mr G. Strachan, Hewlings Street, has received word that his son Lance-Corporal James T. Strachan died of wounds on June 7th. Lance-Corporal Strachan enlisted when he was just eighteen years of age, and left New Zealand with the 1st Battalion of the N.Z.R.B., Earl of Liverpool's Own. He was in action in Egypt and then went to France in May, 1916. He came through the heavy fighting there in May and September of last year unscathed, and had not had even a day's illness since he enlisted. He was educated at the Timaru Main School and also at the Timaru Boys' High School. Prior to his going into camp he was on the staff of the local telegraph office.

THE FALLEN AND WOUNDED.

PERSONAL NOTES

Mr G. Strachan, Hewlings street, Timaru, has received word that his son Lance-Corporal James T. Strachan died of wounds on June 7th. Lance-Corporal Strachan enlisted when he was just eighteen years of age, and left New Zealand with the 1st Battalion of the New Zealand Rifle Brigade. He was in action in Egypt and then went to France in May, 1916. He came through the heavy fighting there in May and September of last year unscathed, and had not had even a day's illness since he enlisted. He was educated at the Timaru Main School and also at the Timaru Boys' High School. Prior to his going into camp he was on the staff of the Timaru telegraph office.