

CARR

Manawatu Times. 23 April 1918 (Papers Past)

ROLL OF HONOUR

CARR.—Lance-Corporal Edward Martin Carr (Ted), 22nd Reinforcement, killed in action on March 27th, 1918; nephew and godson of Mrs Burnett, 6 Duke Street.—R.I.P.

CARR.—Sergeant Joseph John Carr, of the Main Body, killed in action, March 30th, 1918; nephew of Mrs Burnett, 6 Duke Street.—R.I.P.

CARR.—Owen Carr, 18th Reinforcement, missing believed killed on March 30th, 1918; nephew of Mrs Burnett, 6 Duke Street.—R.I.P.

(The three foregoing are the first, second and third sons of Mr and Mrs Edward Carr, Waihao Forks.)

(Claud Henry BURNETT (d. 1914) m. Mariann May DUNN (b. 1868, Canterbury, NZ; d. 1929, NZ, Mary Ann May BURNETT), 1892, NZ)

1919 ER – Palmerston

BURNETT Mariann May, 6 Duke St; widow

Timaru Herald. 29 March 1923 (Papers Past) [04/05/2020]

IN MEMORIAM

CARR.—In loving memory of Rifleman E. M. Carr (Ted) beloved husband of Mary Carr, and oldest son of E. and S. Carr, Waihao Forks, killed in action in France, on March 27, 1918. R.I.P. Also — Sergeant J. J. Carr (Main Body), and Trooper Owen Carr (18th Reinforcements), dearly beloved sons of E. and S. Carr, Waihao Forks, killed in action in Palestine, March 30th, 1918. R.I.P.

Timaru Herald. 28 March 1925 (Papers Past) [04/05/2020]

ROLL OF HONOUR

CARR.—In loving remembrance of Lance-Corporal E. M. Carr (Ted), killed in action in France, March 27, 1918; Sergeant J. J. Carr, killed in Palestine, March 30, 1918; Private O. P. Carr, killed in Palestine, March 30, 1918. R.I.P.

—Inserted by their loving parents, sisters and brothers.

Timaru Herald. 30 March 1926 (Papers Past) [04/05/2020]

ROLL OF HONOUR

CARR.—In loving memory of Edward, Joseph and Owen Carr, dearly beloved sons of Edward and Sarah Carr, of Waihao Forks, who were killed in action on March 30, 1918.
R.I.P.

—Inserted by their loving parents, sisters and brothers.

Timaru Herald. Wednesday, March 30, 1927 [20/01/2017]

IN MEMORIAM

CARR. — In loving memory of Edward Joseph and Owen Carr, killed in action in France on March 30th, 1918.

Inserted by their loving parents, sisters and brothers.

Timaru Herald. 30 March 1927 (Papers Past) [04/05/2020]

IN MEMORIAM

CARR.—In loving memory of Edward Joseph and Owen Carr, killed in action in France on March 30th, 1918.

—Inserted by their loving parents, sisters and brothers.

Timaru Herald. 30 March 1928 (Papers Past) [03/05/2020]

IN MEMORIAM

CARR.—In loving memory of Lance-Corp. E. M. Carr, Sergt. J. J. Carr, and Trooper O. P. Carr, killed in action, March 30th, 1918.
R.I.P.

Inserted by their loving parents, sisters and brothers.

Timaru Herald. Wednesday, March 30, 1932 (Library) [01/07/2013]

ROLL OF HONOUR

CARR — In loving memory of Lance-Corporal E. M. Carr, also Sergt. J. J. Carr and Trooper O. P. Carr, killed in action 30th March 1918. R.I.P.

Inserted by their loved ones.

Press. 30 March 1938 (Papers Past)

IN MEMORIAM

CARR—In loving memory of Edward Joseph and Owen Carr, who were killed in action, March 30, 1918.
R.I.P.

—Inserted by their loving mother,
sisters, and brothers.

Edward Martin CARR (Ted)

Lyttelton Times. 18 April 1918 (PP) [02/05/2020]

ROLL OF HONOUR

CARR.—March 27, killed in action in France, Lance-corporal E. M. Carr, dearly loved husband of Mary Carr, of 162, Wordsworth Street, Sydenham. He gave his life for King and country.

Star. 24 April 1918 (PP) [02/05/2020] Lyttelton Times. 24 April 1918

Mrs M. Carr, of Wordsworth Street, Sydenham, has received advice that her husband, Corporal E. M. Carr, was killed in action in France. On March 27 he was wounded in the hand in the Messines battle, but recovered and went to the front again. Corporal Carr enlisted in the Twentv-first Reinforcements with several other railway men. He was born and educated in Temuka, and served his apprenticeship as a blacksmith with his father. At the time of enlistment he was in the railway service. Corporal Carr's mother, who resides in Temuka, has been unfortunate enough to lose three of her sons within a week. Farrier-Sergeant J. J. Carr and Trooper O. P. Carr both enlisted with the Eighteenth Reinforcements and were serving in Palestine. Sergeant J. J. Carr was killed in action on March 30, Trooper O. P. Carr was reported missing on March 30, and Corporal E. M. Carr was killed in action on March 27.

Timaru Herald. 26 April 1918 (PP) [02/05/2020]

Mrs M. Carr, of Wordsworth Street, Christchurch, has received advice that her husband, Corporal E. M. Carr, was killed in action on March 27th. He was wounded in the hand in the Messines battle, but recovered and went to the front again. Corporal Carr was born and educated in Temuka, and learned the blacksmith's trade with his father. He afterwards joined the railway service, and enlisted with several other railway men in the 21st Reinforcements. Corporal Carr's mother, who resides in Temuka, has been unfortunate enough to lose three sons within a week. Farrier-Sergeant J. J. Carr and Trooper O. P. Carr both enlisted with the 18th Reinforcements, and were serving in Palestine. Sergeant J. J. Carr was killed in action on March 30th; Trooper O. P. Carr was reported missing on March 30th; and Corporal E. M. Carr was killed in action on March 27th.

Lyttelton Times. 27 March 1919 (PP) [03/05/2020]

ROLL OF HONOUR

CARR. — In loving memory of Lance-Corporal E. M. Carr (Ted), dearly beloved husband of Mary Carr, killed in action in France, March 27, 1918, aged twenty-eight years.

My husband is sleeping his last long sleep

In a grave I will never see,

But some gentle hand

In a distant land

May lay down a flower for me.

Inserted by his loving wife and ohildren.

Timaru Herald. 27 March 1919 (PP) [03/05/2020]

CARR. — In loving memory of Lance-Corporal E. M. Carr, killed in action in France, March 27th, 1918.

He is sleeping his last long sleep
In a grave we will never see,
But some gentle hand
In that distant land
May lay down a flower for us.
Inserted by his parents, brothers and sisters.

Temuka Leader. 27 March 1919 (PP) [03/05/2020]

IN MEMORIAM

CARR.—In loving memory of L./Corporal E. M. Carr, eldest son of Edwd. S. Carr, Waihao Forks, and beloved husband of M. Carr, Christchurch, killed in action March 27th, 1918; aged 28 years.
R.I.P.

My son is sleeping his last long sleep
In a grave we will never see;
But some gentle hand in that distant land
May lay down a flower for me.
—Inserted by sorrowing parents,
brothers and sisters.

John Joseph CARR (Joe)

Waimate Daily Advertiser. 9 April 1918 (Papers Past) [21 November 2017]

Amongst the killed in action in recent lists are John Joseph Carr, Waihao Forks (March 30); Owen Carr Waihao Forks (missing; believed dead); while Irwin McK. Bell (brother of Mr W. Bell; Hook) is reported wounded; also W. C. Brown; son of Mr Wm Brown, Redcliff and S. J. Hawke; Makikihi; Albert Edward Peck; Waimate.

Timaru Herald. 10 April 1918 (Papers Past) [08 June 2014]

LATE SERGEANT J. J. CARR.

Sergeant J. J. Carr, reported killed in action in Palestine, on March 30th, was the second son of Mr and Mrs E. Carr, Waihao Forks, who have three sons on active service. He was twenty-four years of age, and was born in Temuka and educated at St. Joseph's School of that town. Sergeant Carr left with the 8th S.C.M. Rifles, Main Body, being one of the first volunteers in the district. He served for some time as a farrier in Egypt, and was then transferred to Palestine on active service. Prior to enlisting Sergeant Carr assisted his father in his blacksmithing business, and had also been engaged in farming in the surrounding district, where he was universally liked and respected. Trooper Owen Carr, reported missing, is the third son of Mr and Mrs Carr. He was 22 years of age and was also born and educated in Temuka. He left with the 18th Reinforcements, and has been on active service in Palestine. Trooper Carr was well known and well liked in the district, and general sympathy will be felt for Mr and Mrs Carr family in their double loss.

Temuka Leader. 11 April 1918 (PP) [05/2020]

ROLL OF HONOUR.

Sergeant Carr, reported killed in action in Palestine, on March 30th, was the second son of Mr and Mrs E. Carr, Waihao Forks, who had three sons on active service. He was 24 years of age, and was born in Temuka and educated at St. Joseph's School. Sergeant Carr left with the 8th S.C.M. Rifles, Main Body, being one of the first volunteers in the district. He served for some time as a farrier in Egypt, and was then transferred to Palestine on active service. Prior to enlisting Sergeant Carr assisted his father in his blacksmithing business, and had also been engaged in farming in the surrounding district, where he was universally liked and respected. Trooper Owen Carr, reported missing, is the third son of Mr and Mrs Carr. He was 22 years of age and was also born and educated in Temuka. He left with the 18th Reinforcements and has also been on active service in Palestine. Trooper Carr was well known and well liked in the district, and much sympathy will be felt for Mr and Mrs Carr and family in their great loss.

Press. 12 April 1918 (PP) [08 June 2014] # #

Sergeant J. J. Carr (killed in action in Palestine, on March 30th) was the second son of Mr and Mrs E. Carr, Waihao Forks. He was 24 years of age, and was born in Temuka and educated at St. Joseph's School. Sergeant Carr left with the 8th South Canterbury Mounted Rifles, Main Body, being one of the first volunteers in the district. He served for some time as a farrier in Egypt, and was then transferred to Palestine for active service. Trooper Owen Carr (reported missing) is the third son of Mr and Mrs Carr. He was 22 years of age and was also born and educated at Temuka. He left with the 18th Reinforcements, and was serving in Palestine.

Waimate Daily Advertiser. 2 July 1918 (Papers Past) [19/06/2018]

PERSONAL.

Mr E. Carr, Waihao Forks, has received the following letter from Sergeant-Major K. B. Tennent, M.M.

In the field, Palestine.

April 8th, 1918

Mr Carr, —Dear Sir,—I am sending you a small packet belonging to poor Joe, which was given to me by the padre who buried him; and I will give you what particulars I can: The fight at Amman, on the east of Jordan, lasted four days, and on the last day, after two costly charges, our boys occupied the Hill overlooking the town. The enemy shelled them all day and made three big counter-attacks. When they were beaten in one of these Joe and another sergeant led their troops out after the retiring Turks; and both were shot dead at the head of their men. During the withdrawal in the evening, we at first could not find the body; but the Auckland chaplain did it and buried him. Try as I can, we can get absolutely no information about Owen; he may be a prisoner of war, but we all fear he is dead, too, although no trace could be found. If anything at all crops up, I will let you know at once. What a blow to you it must be!—two sons together! But you have the pride of knowing that Joe died as glorious a death as anyone could, leading his handful of men at the enemy. Owen Mathias, also once of Waimate, was the other sergeant who died alongside him. Those of us left are proud of these boys; but please believe, we have the deepest sympathy for those at home; especially for you, when not one, but two fine lads have gone. For myself, I feel it greatly, as Joe had been with me all the time; and we have always been the best of friends and after years of campaigning one's friends become perhaps more than brothers. The site of Joe's grave is on Hill 3039, overlooking the town of Amman, on the Hedjez railway; and you can feel assured that as soon as the position falls into my hands again, we will erect a cross to his memory. Please excuse this blunt letter; but you know that I have the deepest sympathy with you all. — Believe me, yours sincerely.

KEN. B. TENNENT.

Timaru Herald. 30 March 1919 (Papers Past) [04/05/2020] ##

IN MEMORIAM

CARR.—In loving memory of Sergeant J. J. Carr (Main Body), killed in action in Palestine, March 30th, 1918; also Trooper O. P. Carr, 18th Reinforcements, killed in Palestine March 30th, 1918. R.I.P.

In a heroes' grave they sleepeth,
Somewhere in Palestine they fell;
How little we thought when we parted,
It was the last farewell.

—Inserted by their father and mother brothers and sisters.

Owen Patrick CARR

Waimate Daily Advertiser. 18 April 1918 (Papers Past) [19/06/2018]

Mr Carr, of Waihao Forks, to-day received news that the third of his soldier-sons has given his life for the Allies' cause. The other two were lost in quite recent fighting; one being reported killed in action; and the other "missing - believed killed."

Temuka Leader. 23 April 1918

ROLL OF HONOUR

Mr E. Carr, of Waihao Forks, received word last week that another son had been killed in action. This makes the third son within the last month or two. Mr and Mrs Carr will have the deepest sympathy of the whole district in their treble loss.

Timaru Herald. 30 March 1928 (Papers Past) [04/05/2020]

IN MEMORIAM

CARR.—In loving memory of Sergeant J. J. Carr (Main Body), killed in action in Palestine, March 30th, 1918; also Trooper O. P. Carr, 18th Reinforcements, killed in Palestine March 30th, 1918. R.I.P.

In a heroes' grave they sleepeth,
Somewhere in Palestine they fell;
How little we thought when we parted,
It was the last farewell.

—Inserted by their father and mother brothers and sisters.
