

Mr Lionel Graham, a son of Mr S. Graham, so well-known in connection with the old boating service, has just returned after an absence of six years, part of which was spent in Brazil, but the major portion of the time in Argentina, on an up-country sheep-station of the great stockowners, Gibson Bros. He has a brother engaged in farming about 120 miles from the capital, and doing well. Mr C. Macintosh fills a prominent position in the city as business manager of an English journal. Mr Graham says he enjoyed the life in Argentina, but all the same he is glad to be back in South Canterbury again.
