

Greymouth Evening Star. 8 October 1915 (Papers Past) [21/02/2018]

VALEDICTORY.

One of those little gatherings so potent of the spirit of the Coast, took place yesterday evening, when the members of the Greymouth Golf Club foregathered to farewell Mr J. H. [F. M.] Dennehy of the Union Bank, prior to his departure for Trentham. Mr. Jas. Stenhouse, on behalf of the members, in making the presentation of a wristlet watch, expressed the appreciation of the members of their guest's decision to serve his King and country and realised that he was one of those who were sacrificing more than the average person might by enlisting, and he hoped that the example he was setting would cause others who believed they had sufficient reason for staying at home to search their consciences as to whether their apparent good reasons were in reality only excuses. He assured Mr. Dennehy that the Club would always watch his military career with interest and wished him a safe return. Mr. J. R. Lynch said there was little he could add, but he assured their guest that if it were not for their veteran state many of the golfers present would be only too glad to follow his example, and hoped that when he got over the Galipolitan "bunker" he would have an opportunity of "putting" many Huns on their home green. Mr. Dennehy gracefully acknowledged the splendid feelings expressed and thanked members for the present, which would always serve to remind him of the good times he had had on the Grey links. He had asked himself the question whether any ties really prevented his enlisting, and the result was the cause of that evening's gathering. He hoped that others would be able to satisfy themselves that soldiering was every fit man's bounden duty and the reputation of the Coast for volunteering would be maintained. Mr. Dennehy's health was drunk with musical honours, and the function closed with the time-honoured Anthem.

Greymouth Evening Star. 11 October 1915 (Papers Past) [21/02/2018]

There was an informal gathering of members of the Greymouth Club on Saturday evening, when Mr F. Dennehy, who leaves en route for the Front tonight was farewelled. Mr C F. A. Broad (President) congratulated Mr Dennehy on the step he had taken, though by doing so they regretted it necessitated his departure from their midst. They all wished him every success and a safe return. Messrs P. McKay and J. D. Lynch spoke in similar appropriate strains, and, after the health of the departing soldier had been enthusiastically honored, Mr Dennehy replied, thanking the President and members for their kindly remarks and compliments. He was a single man, without ties, and he thought that he, as others so situated, should go.

Grey River Argus. 28 January 1920 (page 4) [06/05/2015]

PERSONAL PARS.

To-morrow at St. Patricks Church the marriage will take place of Mr F. M. Dennehy, of the staff of the Union Bank of Australasia, Greymouth, only surviving son of Mr and Mrs Dennehy, Timaru, to Miss "Till" Campbell, youngest daughter of Mr Felix Campbell of Greymouth.

Grey River Argus. 30 January 1920 (Papers Past) [06/05/2015]

WEDDING.

DENNEHY - CAMPBELL

A wedding, in which more than ordinary interest centred, took place yesterday morning at St. Patrick's Church, the contracting parties being Mr F. M. Dennehy, son of Mrs M. Dennehy, of Timaru, and Miss Mary M. Campbell, younger daughter of Mr Felix Campbell, of Greymouth.

The ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. Father Aubry, S.M. The bride who entered the church on the arm of her father, wore an exquisite frock of white soft satin, with a bodice and panels of silver lace, the court train which fell from the shoulders being lined with shell pink and finished with heavy silver fringe. Her veil, which was of Limerick lace, was presented by the Sisters of the Mt. Magdela Home, and was finished with a spray of orange blossom. A sheaf of Christmas Lillies and maiden hair completed a most charming toilette. The bridesmaids, Miss M. Noonan and Miss K. Dennehy, sister of the bridegroom, wore frocks of white palette satin with touches of silver. Their hats were of white georgette, wreathed with white ostrich feathers and finished with a single pink rose.

The bridegroom was assisted by Messrs W. Roche and P. Gillon as best man and groomsman respectively. The bridal party entered and left the church to the strains of the "Wedding March," played most impressively by Miss Eileen Dennehy, of Timaru.

The wedding party, consisting of the relatives and near friends of the bride and bridegroom, repaired to the residence of the bride's father, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was partaken of. The table was most artistically decorated, the predominating colours being heliotrope and white.

Amongst the guests were Mrs T. Campbell, dark grey costume, white leghorn hat finished with autumn leaves; Mrs J. Griffen, white costume, black and white hat; Miss Maureen Griffen, pale pink crepe de chine frock, leghorn hat, trimmed with pink and blue; Miss E. Dennehy, black silk frock vieux rose, crepe de chine jumper, black and white hat. Mrs Noonan, navy costume, black and white hat; Miss Scott (Rangiora) white crepe de chine frock, black hat trimmed with posies; Miss Morrison mole costume, white and .heliotrope hat and Miss Haddock, nigger brown costume, black hat. All the guests carried beautiful boquets.

The happy couple were the recipients of many costly presents, including several cheques, which bore testimony to the high esteem in which the recipients are held by their friends. The bridegroom's present to the bride was a diamond cluster ring, while the bridegroom was the recipient of a handsome dressing case. Miss Noonan received a single diamond brooch and Miss Dennehy a diamond and ruby pendant. One of the handsome presents to the bride was a beautiful silver epergue privately subscribed to by members of the Board of Directors of the Greymouth Dispatch Foundry Company with which Company the bride's father has been prominently associated since its inception 45 years ago.

Later in the day, accompanied by the best wishes of hosts of friends, the newly-wedded pair left by motor car, via Reefton on a tour of the South Island, the bride travelling in a smart navy costume and hat of tuscan straw trimmed with pink.

Greymouth Evening Star. 29 January 1920 (Papers Past) [25/02/2018]

WEDDING.

DENNEHY—CAMPBELL.

A quiet wedding, but one in which great interest was taken, was celebrated at St. Patrick's Church, Greymouth this morning when Mr. Frederick M. Dennehy, only surviving son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Dennehy, Timarn and Miss Mary M. Campbell, younger daughter of Mr. Felix Campbell of this town, were joined in the bonds of Holy Matrimony, the Rev. Father Aubrey, S.M., being the officiating clergyman. The bride who entered the church on the arm of her father, was gowned in an exquisite frock of white soft satin, with a bodice and panels of silver lace, the court train which fell from the shoulders, being lined with shell pink and finished with heavy silver fringe. Her veil, which was of Limerick lace, was presented by the Sisters of the Mt. Magdela Home, and was finished with a spray of orange blossom. A sheaf of Christmas Lillies and maiden hair completed a most charming toilette. The bridesmaids, Miss M.

Noonan, and Miss K. Dennehy, sister of the bridegroom, wore frocks of white palette satin with touches of silver, a striking feature being the silver lace collars which fell to the waist. The skirts had apron effects, which were also finished with silver. Their hats were of white georgette, wreathed with white ostrich feathers and finished with a single pink rose, the whole effect being greatly enhanced by the Shepherd's staffs of silver, crowned with pink sweet peas and asparagus which they carried. The Bridegroom was assisted by Messrs W. Roche and P. Gillon as best man and groomsman respectively. The bridal party entered and left the church to the strains of the "Wedding March," played most impressively by Miss Eileen Dennehy, Timaru. After the ceremony the relatives and near friends of the bride and bridegroom repaired to the residence of the bride's father, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was partaken of. The table was most artistically decorated, the predominating colours being heliotrope and white, while the bell which hung from the ceiling over the middle of the table was of the same colours. Many and costly were tin presents received, amongst which were a number of cheques testifying to the high esteem in which the couple are held. Amongst the guests were Mrs. T. Campbell, dark grey costume, white leghorn hat finished with autumn leaves; Mrs. J. Griffen, white costume, black and white hat; Miss Maureen Griffin, pale pink crepe de chine frock leghorn hat trimmed with pink and blue; Miss E. Dennehy, black silk frock vieux rose crepe de chine jumper, black and white hat. Mrs. Noonan, navy costume, black and white hat; Miss Scott (Rangiora) white crepe de chine frock, black hat trimmed with posies; Miss Morrison mole costume white and heliotrope hat and Miss Haddock nigger brown costume, black hat. All the guests carried beautiful bouquets.

The bridegroom's present to the bride was a diamond cluster ring, while the bridegroom was the recipient of a handsome dressing case. Miss Noonan received a single diamond brooch and Miss Dennehy a diamond and ruby pendant.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennehy left by motor ear via Reefton on a tour of the South Island, the bride travelling in a smart navy costume and hat of tuscan straw trimmed with pink.

On Monday evening last a numerous party of the lady friends of Miss T. Campbell assembled at her home for the purpose of making her a presentation, and of extending to her their good wishes on the eve of her wedding. The presentation was made by Mrs. [L]arsen, who in doing so, referred in felicitous terms to the many estimable qualities of the recipient that had won for her the warm regard of her many friends. She expressed their united good wishes and prosperity in her wedded life, and hoped she would regard their gift as a small token of their high esteem for her. At the conclusion of a very pleasant little function the party rose and sang. "Forested in the building of an Old . . . (?)"

Among the many handsome presents received by the bride was a beautiful silver epergne privately subscribed to by members of the Board of Directors of the Greymouth Dispatch Foundry Company with which Company the bride's father has been prominently associated since its inception 45 years ago.