

FROM

ARMY SCRIPTURE READER.

BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE.

197 Stationary Hospital, Boulogne, France.

FRANCE.

17-8-1917.

Your son, Mr. R. G. Gulliver, has been in the 1st Lancashire Battalion, 1917 and was to write a few lines to you for him. He was in the army he was wounded in the throat, right hand & left a few days ago. I don't know how he is feeling every day from the kind of wound he has & he has been in the hospital since then.

I won't long before he has been with his mother & family for him to write to you to help the money you won't but wounds are not doing him. He wants his home &
his father, mother & brother & hopes you are all well in the 1st General Hospital, Boulogne, France.

Yours sincerely,

H. H. R. R. R.

ARMY SCRIPTURE READER.

Gulliver